

Middle school vocal concert Tuesday

The first vocal concert of the school year is planned for Tuesday, October 10, at North Iowa Middle School in Thompson.

Grades five through eight will perform under the direction of Carole Kettwick. Concert time is 7 p.m. in the school gym.

The fifth grade chorus will sing "Regards to Broadway," "The Guitar Man" and "I've Lost My Homework!" Songs to be performed by the sixth grade chorus are "The Sow Took the Measles," "The Trout" and "The E-RI-E."

Three songs are planned by the seventh-eighth grade boys chorus: "The Freshmen," "The Chariot Spiritual" and "Rosalee." Next on the program is the seventh-eighth grade girls chorus which will sing "The Little Spanish Town," "Irish Ballad," "Don't Say You Love Me" and "That Dixieland Sound."

The night will conclude with an all-grades combined chorus singing "Sing Alleluia, Sing Praise."

Everyone is also welcome to stop by the book fair before and after the concert.

Road work continues

Road work throughout the county continues and bridge construction will force the closing of two roads according to the county road department.

Tenth Ave. between 390th and 400th St in Grant Township will be closed for approximately two months.

The second closing will be at 150th Ave. between 450th and 460th St and 450th St between 140th and 150th Ave. in Newton Township. This area will be blocked around three weeks.

COMBINE FIRE—Thompson Fire Department fought wind-driven farm fires all afternoon Friday. Thompson and Buffalo Center firemen used foam to extinguish a combine fire northwest of Thompson. Rod Wubben and sons Jason and Nate were combining with the help of their father-in-law and grandpa, Keith Hagenson, when this combine caught on fire. Hagenson was unaware of the fire at first because of the extreme dust caused by combining. Portions of the harvested bean field were burned, but little damage was done to the unharvested bean crop. The rear of the combine was most extensively damaged.

SMOULDERING FIELD—This partially harvested bean field on 460th St. north of Thompson caught on fire from a burning combine driven by Keith Hagenson of Buffalo Center late Friday afternoon.

FIRE PREVENTION MONTH—

Thompson firemen to sponsor pancake feed Sunday

Thompson Fire Department is sponsoring a pancake feed Sunday, October 8, in conjunction with National Fire Prevention Week. The feed will be held at the Thompson Fire Hall from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m. Pancakes by Chris cakes, sausage, coffee and orange drink will be served. A free-will donation will be accepted at the door. There will also be door prizes so make sure and register.

National Fire Prevention Week is officially held the first full week of October each year. Make plans to attend Sunday and support your local firemen.

Fires galore Friday

Friday, September 29, could have been dubbed "Fire Friday" in Winnebago County and surrounding areas. There was a structure fire near Pilot Knob Friday morning that the Forest City Fire Department responded to. A large field fire threatened homes near Garner and four local fires kept Thompson, Buffalo Center, Lakota and Rake firemen hopping all afternoon. Scarville, Kiester and Emmons fire departments also fought a field fire.

Around 1:30 p.m. Friday, Thompson Fire Department were called to extinguish a field fire at Friesenborg & Larson's, northwest of Thompson. The fire ignited an estimated 60-70 acres of corn, according to the firemen. Buffalo Center and Rake departments assisted. The blaze started when a smoldering fire in pete ground rekindled itself.

Thompson firemen put out a fire at the city dump and were just returning from that call when they were paged to provide mutual aid for Buffalo Center around 4:30 Friday. A field fire which originated in John Davids' bean field one mile north of Buffalo Center spread quickly to over a mile and one half. The fire damaged standing corn and spread across Randy Geerdes', Richard Bosma's and Duane Feldick's fields. The fire jumped the road and firemen from Buffalo Center, Rake, Lakota and Thompson raced to stop the wind-driven blaze from reaching other fields and homes.

While the three departments were working on the Bosma fire, a call came through for a combine/field fire northwest of Thompson. Keith Hagenson was combining beans when the combine caught on fire, igniting portions of the field as well. Thompson and Buffalo Center responded.

HOMEcoming KING & QUEEN—

Ryan Arnevik, son of Dan and Lonnie Arnevik, and Molly Angstman, daughter of Joe and Pam Angstman, reign as the 2000 NIHS Homecoming King and Queen. They were crowned Thursday evening.

Church fires may be connected

In September, the Steele County Sheriff's Office in Owatonna, Minn., had three unexplained fires—two of which occurred in churches near Ellendale and Meridan, Minn. Authorities are now looking into the possibility that the Minnesota fires may be connected to the church fires in this area. The public is encouraged to keep a watchful eye on all of the churches in this area, particularly the rural churches. Any suspicious activity, day or night, should be reported to the authorities at once.

Watch out for those deer!

The Winnebago County Sheriff's Office would like to remind the people in the county to be especially observant for the next three months for deer movements in the early morning and evening hours. It is estimated that there will be at least 50 car-deer accidents between now and December in Winnebago County alone. The deer accidents have been declining steadily over the past five years. In 1995 there were 133 accidents and in the following years there were 124, 111, 107 and 98. Thus far this year, compared to last year, numbers were also down. To minimize the change of getting involved in a car-deer accident, use your bright lights when possible and watch road ditches carefully.

Jacque Rabb, 53, dies in New York

This community was shocked and saddened to hear of the death of former Thompsonite Jacque (Thorland) Rabb, 53. Mrs. Rabb died Wednesday, September 27, 2000, at the University Hospital in Syracuse, New York, as result of an automobile accident.

The daughter of Daniel and Mary Thorland of rural Thompson, Jacque was raised in Thompson and graduated from Thompson High School in 1965. She also lived in Kansas City, Missouri, St. Louis, Missouri and Monroe, Conn., before moving to Jamesville, New York, in 1998.

After high school she attended the University of Iowa in Iowa City. She was currently employed as an operating room technologist at St. Joseph's Hospital in Syracuse. She was a member of the National Association of Orthopedic Technologists and the Association of Surgical Technologists.

A memorial service was scheduled for Tuesday at the Church of the Resurrection, Blue Springs, Missouri and for October 9 at the Chapel of St. Joseph's Hospital, Syracuse.

Survivors include her husband of 32 years, Richard C. Rabb; one daughter, Carla R. Bukalski of Chicago, Ill.; one son, Daniel R. Rabb of St. Louis, Mo., two sisters, Vicky Thorland-Oster of Ames and Cynthia Thorland of Des Moines; her parents, Daniel and Mary Thorland of Thompson; and one granddaughter.

Memorials may be sent to the American Red Cross, Onondago-Oswego Chapter, 220 Herold Pl., Syracuse, NY 13202.

CASH PRIZES FOR IOWA HISTORY STUDENTS

Students interested in Iowa history have an extra incentive to crack the books this fall. The State Historical Society of Iowa is awarding $1,200 in prizes for the best student essays on the 20th century. The contest will help promote the upcoming exhibit "A Few of our Favorite Things: 100 Creations of the 20th Century."

In the essay contest, students will develop research papers on topics of their choice.

Topics should be well researched and documented, with oral histories encouraged. The papers must be six to eight type-written pages and must be post-marked by Nov. 6th to be eligible.

Bailey said any student in grades 5 through 12 may enter, with prizes divided into junior (grades 5-8) and senior (grades 9-12) divisions. The first prize in each division is $300, with $200 for second and $100 for third.

To seek more information or to obtain an official entry blank, contact Bailey at (515) 281-6860 or email Crystal.Bailey@dca.state.ia.us before October 23. Some of the papers may be eligible for the National History Day competition. Bailey, who is the Iowa coordinator for NHD, can provide more information.

Farm Outlook 2000 . . .

FIRE PREVENTION TAKES ON ADDED IMPORTANCE

Unseasonably dry weather and intense harvesting has significantly increased the chances for fire this fall. Several reports about field and grass fires in western Iowa over the weekend have residents and fire departments on high alert.

While the three-day forecast does call for cooler temperatures and a chance of rain, conditions are expected to remain favorable for fire.

To help protect the health of farmers and their families and to safeguard their property and that of their neighbors, the Iowa Farm Bureau provides the following list of fire prevention tips.

The Iowa Farm Bureau hopes that you will publicize these safety reminders to decrease the chances for accidents and property losses as a result of fire.

FIRE PREVENTION/CONTAINMENT TECHNIQUES

1. For a fire to occur, three things must be present: air, a material to burn and a heat source. Since it's impossible to eliminate air around a farm machine, keep the machine clean of possible fire-causing materials and eliminating all possible sources of heat that could lead to a fire.

2. Use a pressure washer to remove all caked-on grease, oil and crop residue. A clean engine will run cooler, operate more efficiently and greatly reduce chance for fire.

3. Combine operators should frequently blow any dry chaff, leaves and other materials off the machine with compressed air. Also, clear off any wrapped plant material on bearings, belts and other moving parts.

4. If you notice any leaking fuel or oil hoses, fittings or metal lines, make sure to replace the part immediately.

5. When checking your oil and performing other daily maintenance, quickly scan any exposed electrical wiring for damage or signs of deterioration. Replace any worn or malfunctioning electrical component with proper parts.

6. Keep an eye out for worn bearings, belts and chains. A badly worn bearing can glow red-hot. Any rubber belt subjected to intense heat from a worn part can burst into flames.

7. If a fire does occur on a piece of equipment, your best source of protection is at least one fully charged 10-pound ABC dry chemical fire extinguisher. A five-pound unit is recommended for tractors. Having two extinguishers on the machine is better than one in case one malfunctions or loses pressure.

8. Check extinguishers periodically, paying special attention to the pressure gauge. To function effectively, the gauge must show adequate pressure to expel the powder inside.

9. If a fire does break out on a machine you're operating, quickly shut off the engine, grab your fire extinguisher, get out and get help.

10. Having a cell phone or two-way radio nearby will help get professional assistance to the field more quickly.

11. Disking end rows can create a fire wall that can prevent fire from spreading. After combining, disk end rows before departing the field.

12. If possible, have a tractor and disk nearby when combining. If a fire does start, having one nearby can help the fire from spreading.

13. Don't overlook your farm grounds. Get rid of unnecessary clutter that could cause a fire. The same goes for buildings where hazardous materials can accumulate.

GASKILL RECENTLY DESIGNATED FRIEND OF AGRICULTURE

Thurman Gaskill of Corwith has been designated a Friend of Agriculture by the political action committee of the Iowa Farm Bureau. He is a Republican seeking the District 8 Senate seat representing Hancock, Humboldt, Kossuth, Winnebago and Wright Counties.

The Friend of Agriculture designation is given to those candidates who will support issues important to agriculture and Iowa's rural communities.

Criteria used to make the designations included the candidates' position on questions of importance to farmers and evaluations of the candidates by county Farm Bureau Campaign 2000 committees.

IOWA BEEF CENTER RECOMMENDS CORNSTALK GRAZING GUIDELINES

Without a doubt, 2000 has been an unusual year for beef producers. Dry spring conditions caused growing drought concerns, however, mid-summer rains quieted some of the speculation.

Now with much of the state several inches behind in rainfall, beef producers are seeding many pastures completely depleted. "Not only is the top soil dangerously low in moisture going into this fall, but plant root reserves are wiped out," said Daryl Strohbahn, extension beef specialist with Iowa State University and the Iowa Beef Center. "Grass and legume plants need rest before winter starts or plant survival may be in jeopardy."

Strohbahn recommends that producers begin cornstalk grazing as soon as possible to give overworked pastures necessary resting time. "Because it's looking like the corn harvest is going to be especially early this year, producers should have ample opportunity to graze cattle on cornstalks," Strohbahn said.

IOWA BEEF CENTER SPONSORS CUTTING EDGE FEEDLOT CONFERENCE

Iowa cattle feeding has taken on an entirely different look in the past five years. In order to be profitable, managers are finding it increasingly important to expand their operations and procure more animals.

Conversely, however, state and national regulations are becoming more and more stringent on water quality standards. Meanwhile, packer buying programs are trending toward value-based systems, incorporating greater incentives for consumer desired traits.

"Cattle Feeding in Iowa for the 21st Century - Facilities and Marketing" will be held November 1 and 2 in the Scheman Building at Iowa State University.

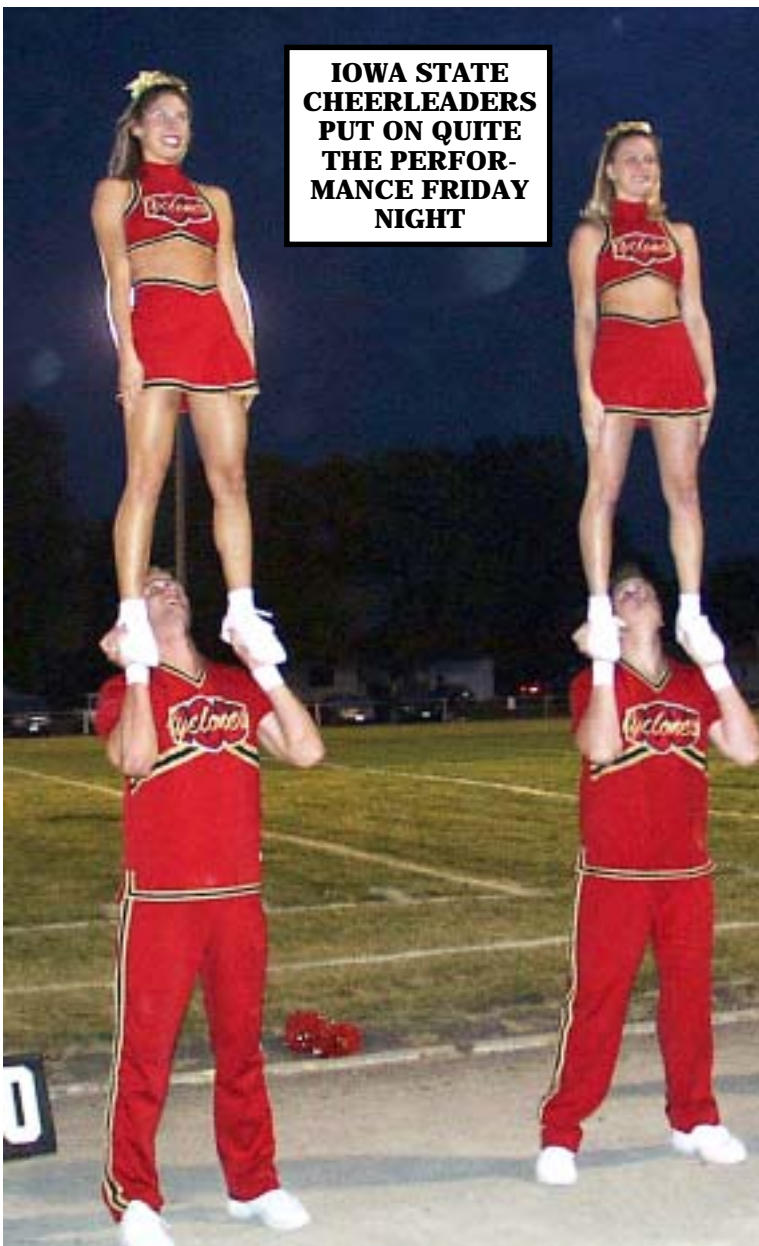

Pre-registration is urged. Contact Extended and Continuing Education at (515) 294-6222.

POOR HOMECOMING PERFORMANCE—

Coach Tom Smith: ‘Bison taken out behind woodshed and kicked around’

All that’s left of Homecoming week is the memory of a pretty poor homecoming performance by the Bison football team. Gone are the decorated windows, painted and tattooed faces and the anticipation of the big game.

“We pretty much were taken out behind the woodshed and kicked around in this game,” said Coach Tom Smith as he recalled Friday night’s game. “We were dominated on both sides of the ball, both physically and emotionally. We didn’t read our keys defensively or execute offensively.”

The Bison knew it would be a tough homecoming match up. The Pirates are undefeated and came to Buffalo Center ranked seventh among Class A teams. They upset previously ranked West Bend-Mallard and since knocking of the Bison, have raised not only their record, but their rank to fourth in the state.

Fans watched as both teams exchanged the ball the first quarter, neither finding their way across the goal line.

Graettinger struck paydirt less than two minutes into the second period and the PAT run upped the score to 8-0. The Pirates held NI scoreless and went into halftime enjoying a slight lead. The Bison went into half-time hoping to regroup and come back with a strong second half.

The atmosphere of the game totally changed just seconds into the third frame when Graettinger’s Lucas Hough returned the kickoff 75-yards on the first play of the second half.

“We had a breakdown in our specialty team’s play to start the second half which really put us in a hole,” continued Coach Smith. “All in all, Graettinger played well, we didn’t!”

Although Graettinger was unable to convert the PAT, they held a 14-0 lead over the Bison and apparently tasted victory because they never let up. The Pirates scored again in the fourth quarter at 8:52 on a four yard burst by Hough. To add insult to injury, they moved the score to 26-0 with 3:08 left on the play clock on a play pass to Josh Nitchals.

For the night, the Bison ran the ball 26 times for 92 yards. Ryan Arnevik carried eight times for 27 yards. Greg Risius picked up 25 yards on nine carries and Gary Eichenberger had 22 yards on six attempts. Only one other Bison carried. Nick Price had 18 yards on three runs.

QB Eichenberger took to the air waves 12 times, completed three for four yards. He threw one interception.

Defensively, the Bison were led by Jamie Homsey, Gary Eichenberger, Risius and Blake Berg, TAKEDOWN—NI’s Blake Berg (80) and Paul Hagedorn (4) take down Graettinger’s Lucas Hough, their leading rusher.

all in double digits in tackles.

In conclusion, Coach Smith added, “This week will be a test of our character. It will also be a test of how we’re going to approach the rest of the regular season. Our kids can still be successful but we’re going to have to play with a lot more discipline and a lot more intensity than we displayed in this ball game.

FINDS RUNNING ROOM—Greg Risius (9) found some running room behind the blocking of teammate Ryan Arnevik (32). Risius had 25 yards for the Bison Friday night. At far right is QB GaryEichenberger (8).

Grandson named Outstanding Batting Champion

Patrick Graham Teague, grandson of Myron and Betty Teague of Thompson, was recently named the Outstanding Batting Champion by the Palmetto Baseball League (PBL) in Columbia, South Carolina. Patrick won the award over a field of 92 other players in the 11-12 age division. He finished the 22 game season with a .571 batting average and five home runs. Patrick also competed against 34 other qualifiers for the League’s Home Run Derby Title and clinched first runner-up with 11 home runs. Patrick has also trained at the University of South Carolina Baseball camp where the Gamecocks’ Head Coach Ray Tanner and the other camp coaches voted him outstanding hitter for his age group.

The Palmetto Baseball League is an independent League with more that 300 players and is considered to be the outstanding training league in the City of Columbia.

Many members of his family including his father, Patrick, and uncles Graham Teague and Kenneth Hoover,have coached Patrick. Both uncles played baseball and basketball at Rembrandt High in the 1960’s.

This past summer Patrick was selected for the “Palmetto All-Stars” team. His team won three invitational tournaments including the South Carolina State Championship of the U.S. Slow Pitch Softball Associationand was invited to play in their national championship in Houston, Texas. The team also won a regional AAU tournament in Concord, NC defeating teams from Florida, South and North Carolina. They were invited to play at the National AAU tournament for 12 year olds at Burnside, Minn., butwere unable to participate.

THANK YOU

We want to thank the Buffalo Center, Rake, Thompson and Lakota Volunteer Fire Departments for all their efforts in putting out the fire that spread to our cornfield Friday afternoon, September 29. Also, a big thank you to all the farmers who came in with their tractors and discs and to the liquid manure hauler for dumping manure to help stop the fire. It was all very much appreciated.
